Also that he informed Bismarck, with extraordinary energy, that England would not besitate a moment on this subject, and he would quit Berlin on Monday if her demands were then unsatisfied. The Potter Committee.

By Telegraph to the News. WASHINGTON, June 24 -The Potter Committee met at 11 a. m. Mrs. Agnes Jenks was recalled and cross examined by Mr. Springer, who commenced by referring to the statement of the witness wherein she stated that no one excepting herself herself knew aught of the original document known as the Sherman letter," and said: "If no one excepting yourself knows aught of the original document, you must have written it." To which the witness replied: "I did not say so." A lengthy examination on this subject followed, but in vain, as the witness positively declined to give the name of the person

The Kinder-Garten What it is. Special'y Reported for the News

CHAPEL HILL, June 24 The subject of Kindergarten instruc tion is agitating the educational matters of this as well as other States of the Union. I copy from the New York School Journal, "we are often asked what is a Kindergarten? It is not entirely a vegetable garden, not entirely a floral garden, though plants may said to grow and turive, to bud and blossom in it. Its plants are "plants of Solomon" precious and beautiful images of the Lily of the Valley" and the "Rose of haron." It is a garden in which small slips of humanity are planted: a rich soil and congenial climate in which these slips take root, spring up and put forth their attractive foliage, it is a greenhouse adapted to the develop ment of the nascent activities and fac ulties of the human mind; it is a childgarden full of tender human plants under the direcetion of no tyro, no ad venturer, no bungler, but of one who understands the true philosophy of mental growth and mental evolutions; it is soil in which each individual slip is nurtured, trellised, cultivated and fed with special regard to its individual needs, all being kept in perfect bar-

THE ABOVE EXPLANATIONS. The above shows that Kindergarten has for its object the early training of children, of the development of the dormant faculties, the satisfaction of their mental cravings; the stimulation of their mental appetites; in a word the development of the bud of humanity into a large full blown flower of human usefulness, and good.

WORKINGS OF THE SYSTEM.

By this system children are brought together at that age when mental work has first commenced to show itself and "mental activities first begin to de-velop." At this age children are collected and surrounded by those mental objects which tend to make them inquisitive, "to foster a love for the beautiful;" which tend to store the mind with objects of beauty, and fill the soul with purity and awaken within them the perceptive, expressive and reflect-ive faculties predominate and peraption leads to inquiry.

The childs mind is continually receiving impressions from surrounding natural objects and the table of the memory is being covered with pictures which never erase. How important that the lives traced upon the tablet of the memory should be such as would awaken the child to a thirst and desire of the acquisition of knowledge. A tree will grow the way it is bent. A child will develop into a good man or bad man as the influences which surround him are good or bad. In fine a child will be what you make him. Leave him alone and he will be nothing. It will be observed that a person who teaches children must be well versed in the sciences of natural phenomena and occurences, of stars moon and sun, of plants and flowers, of land and its contents, of the past, present and future, of the athletical development of the human, of everything under the sun which will in any way conduce to man's happiness and fit him for future bliss. QUALIFICATIONS FOR PRIMARY TEACH-ERS. Prof. James E. Vose, of Mass., lays down the following qualifications for those who give primary instructions;

Piety, experience, learning, skill and invention, good breeding." This is a high requirment; but the work is a lofty one, not excelled in moral gran-deur by that proclaimed by God's ministers. It is a work demanding the greatest powers and resources of in the highest mode of perfection to which human frailty can attain. In teaching this system picture books, animals, shells, and natural objects are resirable, as they give an interest to the child.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY.

On Saturday the Normal School Debating Society was formed and the following officers were elected for the ummer. President, F. D. Winston; Vice President, John Small; Secretary, Robt. P. Pell; Critic, Mr. Howard. This body meets each Friday night for a discussion of subjects relating to schools &c.

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY.

On Saturday President Battle gave a short review of the history of Chapel Hill, the college buildings, and the spots of beauty and interest around Chapel Hill. President Battle is well, and is ever doing and saying something to benefit the Normalite. The ladies have all fallen in love with him and the gentlemen. Well, in the language of Mark Twain, "pard they dote on that man." His talk was very amusing. By the way, the President has constructed an elegant fish pond. He has all the modern appliances for feeding the fish and caring for them. It is, as he says, an elegant place, but there are no fish in the pond, and the dam wont hold water.

SOCIAL GATHERING.

During the social gathering on Friday night, the evening was rendered more pleasant by having all the teachers indulge in some light calisthenics. Miss Cook, of the Wilmington schools, assisted by Capt. John E. Dugger, of Raleigh conducted the corrections. Raleigh, conducted the ceremony.

SUNDAY'S SERVICES.

Normalites were in attendance upon the churches of the village to-day. The beautiful dresses of the adies lead me to think that teaching is very profitable. I saw several dresses to day to have bought which would have taken Prof. Ladd's three months salary when he first com-menced teaching. Probably it would F. D. W. nave taken more.

Evening Exercises at Salisbury Street Baptist Church.

By eight o'clock every available seat n the church was filled and by half after eight, the hour for opening the exercises, the edifice was crowded to such an extent that quite a number of adies stood in the aisles, unable to get seats. The programme commenced with an organ voluntary by Prof. F. A. Bohl-man, this excellent organist held the audience spell bound, during his perfect rendition of a potpourri from Verdi's best work, Trovatori, including the following aria's "Miserare," "Il balen," and "Si la Stanchezza." Then followed is bound, or who does not rely on the Then the distinctions which we give

The sacred duet—I will magnify the O God-Mosenthal, was beautifully sung by Misses Grausman and Briggs. Miss Grausman has a pure soprano voice and received many well merited compli-ments. Miss Briggs, clear, flute like contralto was the subject of general admiration.

Then followed the address by the Rev. R. Furman, of South Carolina.

The subject of the address was The Beautiful in Nature, in Art and in Morals," and the speaker confined himself to a practical illustration of the subject. He defined the several kinds of beauty; spoke of the beauties of the heavens, the earth, the ocean, animal life, and especially the beauty of woman. He said: "The fairest object in creation, is a beautiful woman.'

He tersely presented the characteristic beauties of painting, sculpture, music and poetry, and said poetry must ever rank amongst the elegant arts, as civilization is indebted in a high degree to it; spoke of the beauties of prose, and enumerated the more beautiful writers in the various departments of English Literature.

The speaker regarded moral beauty as the most important; virtue is essen-tial to it, and drew illustrations of the subject from the social, domestic and civil relations, and said: "The highest type of moral beauty is piety to God. All earthly beauty is destined to decay, but not so the beauty of the heart."
The address was closed with a description of heaven, "where all is beautiful, because all good."

The address, which was ornate, eloquent, interesting and instructive, commanded the close attention of the vast throng for over an hour.

The Crede from De Monti's Mass in B flat was then rendered with thrilling effect, Miss Mamie Lewis as soprano and Mr. Hardin as baritone soloists. charmed the vast audience. Miss Lewis whose mezzo soprano, we are all proud of, excelled herself and added one more wreath to her chaplet of vic-

Mr. Hardin's powerful baritone, and perfect enunciation, delighted the as-semblage and did him much credit. Then Dr. Pritchard pronounced the tenediction in an impressive manner, and as the audience was leaving the church Prof. Bohlmans exquisite touch drew from the grand organ the delightful strain's of "La Donna e Mobite" from Verdis Rigoletto. Thus concluded an evening of unalloyed enjoyment.

Destructive Fires.

By Telegraph to the News.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 24 .- A fire commenced at noon to day in the cotton compress of Hunter & O'Conneil. It was caused by treading on a parlor match, which had been dropped on the floor, a cotton sample caught on the floor, a cotton sample caught and the flames spread so rapidly that everything in reach was enveloped. The fire immediately extended into the Planters' Warehouse adjoining. The two houses held between one thousand and eleven hundred bales of cotton.

RALEIGH, N. C., TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 25, 1878.

SUPREME COURT.

Digests of Opinions of the Supreme Court Filed at June Term, 1878, to Appear in 79 N. C. Reports.

Reported for the News by Walter Clark Esq., Attorney at Law.] The following opinions were filed yesterday afternoon. By Smith, C. J.: 6. State vs. Ballard from Jones.

The rule laid down by this court that in civil actions it will not pass on ex-ceptions not taken by the appellant in the court below is not entirely applicable to criminal prosecutions. The court does not hold that a defendant may be silent and acquiesce in the in-troduction of any evidence, permit it to be beard and acted on by the jury and then complain of its admission.
Ordinarily in such cases he must abide the result. But where the statute declares, as here, that in an indictment for lewd and lascivious cohabitation the confession of one shall not be evidence against the other party, the admission of such confession even though unobjected to by the defendant is such error as to entitle him to a new trial. The judge should have instructed the jury that the confession of one party was not evidence against the other.

By SMITH, C. J.
7. Evans v. Williamson, from Cumberland. An objection that title to land not satisfied by a brief memorandum taken down by the justice and trans-mitted with the appeal to the Superior Court. In an action on a note, with or without seal, a recovery can not be defeated, nor the sum due be lessened by a partial failure of consideration, and consequently here the title to any part of the tumber (for which the note was given) can not come into controversy, unless the entire consideration is involved. It is not admissible for the defendant thus to introduce a controversy as to title, not between himself and plaintiff, but between the plaintiff and a stranger, and thus substitute an issue as to title to land in an action to enforce a contract obligation, Where a contract by a guardian is not in writing and the infant, having arrived at age, satisfies the act of his guardian by becoming party plaintiff, this obviates any objection for the want of authority of the guardian to make sale as required by Bat. Rev , ch. 53, sec. 33.

When a party not himself bound by a written contract, in a case embraced within the statute of frauds, seeks by action to enforce it against another who prayer by the Rev. Mr. Gwaltney the statute, the latter can not defend himtract of the former against his own legal obligation. Where the seal to a bond has been defaced an instruction to the jury that if the cancellation was done by the plaintiff the bond would be rendered void, but if done by a stranger it would not, (an issue on the evidence as to that fact being also left to the jury), is unexcaptional. The defendant having set up a failure of title to part of the timber, for which the note was given, and there being an indefinite entry s well on the note as on the docket of the justice of a remission of $75, it was entirely competent in the plaintiff to show on what account the sum was remitted, and thus eliminate all matters of inquiry which could, under any circumstances, lead to a controversy in-

By READE, J. Hobbs, from Chowan. complaint which merel alleges that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $400, without setting out any of the circumstances which consti-tute the cause of action, as for instance whether the indebtedness is by speci-alty, or for work and labor done, or for money lent, or for tort. &c., is defective, and a demurrer thereto will be sustained. The complaint must inform the defendant fully as to the facts, so that he may make his defence both by the proper pleas and proofs. The ordinary course, when the demurer (over-ruled below) is sustained here, is to reverse the judgment below, which was given for the plaintiff, and give judgment here for the defendant; but as that might, in this case, defeat the plaintiff's right altogether, if he has one, the case is remanded with leave to the plaintiff to amend. Judgment is given against plaintiff for costs. By READE, J.:

9. Gregory v. Morrissey, from Wayne. Where there was a delivery of all the papers and effects of his office by a clerk and master, to his successor, the Clerk of the Superior Court in 1868, so instanti the liability of his sureties ceased. A re delivery by his successor of them to him by direction of the parties for whom he had sold land, and who are plaintiffs in this action and under sanction of the court, may make him a commissioner of the court, but does not re-affix any liability on his sureties. They are in no way bound for anything done after the surrender to the successor. The sureties are bound for the balance unaccounted for in the hands of balance unaccounted for in the hands of the C. & M.. at the date of the surrender of his office, with interest at 12 per cent., and the C. & M. personally is liable, in addition for all he collected after that date, without any regard to the difference between gold and currency at time of collection, (all the collections being since the war,) after deducting all he has paid out, the balance bearing 12 per cent. interest from date of summons. The contract for pur-chase of the land was here solvable in gold, but by consent of parties, the C. & M. collected in currency, adding the depreciation. The objection, that if the C. & M., now pays in currency, by reason of the appreciation of currency as compared with gold, the plaintiff will received. more than the nominal amount of his debt is without force. The defendant ought to have paid the money out as he received it, and if he did not, the loss is his. The money was the plain-tiff's and the increase is his. Ordinarily a trustee who withholds money colected is entitled to no commissions

As the amount retained by the C. and M. when he surrendered his office was almost exactly the amount of his com-missions there was no moral delin-quency, and as the subsequent collections seem to have been withheld without other fault than a mere failure to pay over, that rule is too rigid to be ap-

tor. While they were is B's hands the said maker of the bond and note, at B's request, paid a large number of judgments and debts due by B to sundry parties. Held Though there was no endorsement of payments made by the maker of the bond and note, the defendant was not precluded from insisting in the court below that the sums so paid as B's request were, in fact, payments. Though there might have been no evidence of an express agreement, it might reusonably have been inferred that there was such an agreement. Such an inference is not one of law which a court can draw, but one of fact, which a jury or a referee

11. Blue v. McFarland, from Richmond. 1. Where a commissioner appointed by the Probate Court to sell land made a report of the sale which was confirmed. Held: The order of confirmation was irregular if made without notice to the parties, and when they had no opportunity to oppose it. The motion to set aside the tale is considered in this court as if it had been made when the motion for confirmation was made and in opposition to it, and includes a motion to vacate the order of confirmation.

2. Where the land was described by all parties as 1,400 acres when in fact the tract contained 2,500 acres, and the commissioner sold without having made any effort to ascertain the true area. Held: This was gross negligence on his part which caused the land to sell below its real value, and on this ground also the sale ought to be set aside. BY BYNUM:

12. Parker vs. Banks from Perqui-

A purchaser from the mortgagor after a mortgage duly registered is a purchaser with notice, hence where a mortgagor in possession sold and conveyed to his tenant also in possession the margage having been registered prior to the sale by the mortgagor, the purchaser is not protected by the statute of limitations by reason of his having continued in possession seven years after his purchase and before the beginning of this action. The purchase being with notice, the purchaser only got the equity of redemption which is not colorable title, the possession under which for seven years will bar the mortgagor's right of action. The purchaser being in possession when The purchaser being in possession when he bought, there was no entry and ouster, and the sale does not show *in*tention sufficient to make him hold affectsely. But even if such sale was color of title and the holding was adverse the mortgagor having waived forfeiture and received payment of one of the mortgage notes (successively falling due) within seven years before the bringing of this action, the purchaser still has not the protection of the bar of the statute. The fact that the mortgagee knew of himself on the stump, and they such purchaser is no estoppel, he having received no part of the purchase money. Where a sale was made under power of sale by mortgagee's attorney, no money paid to the attorney on the day of sale, but the mortgagee directed him to pre-pare a deed for him to execute, which he died before signing. Held: It is gen-erally true that a mortgagee with power of sale, cannot execute such power by attorney. But where the sale is made by an attorney in his absence and the mortgagee, in whom the legal title is vested, coupled with an interest, ratifies such sale, the sale is valid, and the execution of the deed by the substituted trustee is unexceptional.

By BYNUM, J.: 13. Johnson v. Purker, from Pitt. In 1837, H, who had no color of title, died in possession of land, and his heirs entered and divided it between them. At divers times from 1841 to 1860 the several heirs executed deeds for their respective shares to the defendant. The defendant, and those under whom he claims, held continuously and adversely from 1837 up to the bringing of this suit, in 1872. The plaintiff claims as sole heir of J. who claimed by mesne conveyance from H. in 1833. J. died in August, 1835, and the plaintiff was born two days thereafter, becoming of age Aug. 17, 1857. Held: The right of action having accrued prior to the adoption of the C. C. P., is governed by Rev. Talking Politics and Statesmanship Through a Telcphone-Reasons Why Candidates Should not be Pledged, By Telephone to the News.

It being observed that en-Senator Clingman was in the city, and being a veteran in politics, a gentleman from whom the people of this State have been delighted to hear for the past forty years, the long-handed reporter of the News—the young gentleman who does the telephoning for this establishment, got out his old oyster cans, unwound his string, and having gotten his line of communication established, shouted "A-r-ey-o-u r-e-a-ri-y" "Y-a-a-s; y-o-a-h-e-a-a-d."

"Y-a-a s; 410 a-h-e-a-a-d." Telephoner:—You kay General, that the constitution gives the election of United States Senator to the Legisla ure, alone, and not to the popular vote.

Do you meanly that, that the members of the Legislature ought not to consult the wishes of their constituents, and that the people have no right to instruct their representatives at all?

Answer:—That is the logical deductions tion from my statement of course, but it would not do to put it that way, exactly; people might not like it.

Telephone:—You say it is wrong to make a candidate pledge himself; that the Legislature ought to be impartial as a jury; would it be wrong for a Democratic member to promise that he ocratic member to promise that he would not vote for a Radical for Sena-

Telephoner:—Then his qualification as a juror would be gone. Would it be wrong for a member to pledge himself to go into a caucus and abide by the will of the majority?

Answer:—I recken not; for if he should not obey the will of the caucus, and others followed his example, party organization would soon be destroyed, and we would be beaten.

Telephoner:—You say that the pledging system gives an advantage to the least worthy aspirants. Did you not in 1852, 1854 and along there, try to have every member of the Legislature in the mountain district pledged to vote for you for Senator, and didn't you call on the people to put "ear marks" on every member from the West who refused to vote for you? Didn't you try to brand them like "Buncombe cattle?" Answer — Well, there was something of that kind took place, but that was twenty-odd years ago. And besides, circumstances alter cases; those West-

Are they not as apt to represent it as the office seeker who happens not to be the choice of those conven-

Answer :- I think not. From my Answer:—I think not. From my long experience in public lite, I am sure I know what the people want much better than do themselves. In fact, this disposition of the people to say what they want, and who they prefer for Senator, is absurd, and dangerous to the public welfare. But for this new faugled idea, I should have gone back to the Senate myself, after the war, and should stay there as long as I lived.

Answer:—It may be, but I can't help being the most lit man for the Sanate. I nessely state facts, and am not responsible for their existence.

Answer:—I have. I think he has no claims whatever to the position. Telephoner:—Are you going to run for State Senator in Buncombe? Answer:-It is likely I shall.

Telephoner:—Then you are disquali-led to sit on the jury ain't you? Answer:—Well, the case is different you see, I may be a candidate myself for the United States Senate; and I shall sit on my own jury in person. There the law waives so small a matter as the expression of a previous opinion; it is swallowed up by the law of merger. I know what you mean by asking about kin. It is true that all the candidates for the nomination in 1872, had kin on the Jury except Vance. My kinsman Colonel Humphrey, helped me greatly. By the way he is an ex-ample that illustrates the wickedness of the pledging policy. Had the peo-ple of Duplin and Wayne instructed him, I should have been deprived of his help, for I don't suppose there were ten men in the two counties for me. I

Since that time I have been mostly like Since that time I have been mostly like Mark Twain's jackas-rabbit, sitting about, meditating on my sins, but now that the State is decidedly Democratic, I think I know where I am. If the people would stop declaring for Vance, and I could get him and Merrimon both out of the way, and a majority of the members of the Legislature could be got here who had never expressed an opinion to a human soul (except to me privately) on the subject of the Sena-torship, and who would not mind misrepresenting their constituents, why I believe I wouldn't object to trying my hand at the Senatorship for the good of my country.

Telephoner: — General, I am much obliged to you for your candid and statesman-like answers for the benefit of the News and its whole State full of readers. One more question and I will draw in my telephone. Honor bright, did the Observer man really seek an interview with you, and ask your opinion about the Senatorship?

Answer:—I see, young man, that you are not only new to the ways of politicians, but I fear you are green in the newspaper business. Of course they did not come to me. You see the public wanted to know my opinion, in fact, the people were crazy about it, only they were too modest to ask, or they were deterred by these conventions, or something. I did not care to write a letter on the subject, for there are people impertinent enough to say "who the devil asked you?" So I fixed up the interview. You inquire of the older heads in your office, and they will tell you how these things are done, and how they appear in the papers as hav-ing been obtained after much hesita-tion, persuasion, and the like; how much energy the paper displays in pro-curing matter of this kind, and at what sacrifice of labor and space to accom-modate and interest the public. Thus you see, I preserve my modesty by throwing the blame on the importunity of the newspaper men, get to touch up Vance, try to stop the county meetings from declaring for him, stir the fight between him and Merrimon, and raise row generally, knowing that I can't be worsted, at all events, and in the gen circumstances alter cases; those Western men ought to have been branded for not voting for me. I remember very well that in 1854, my friends tried to make Vance, who was a candidate for the Commons in Parameter and Merrimon be withdrawn from the content of the commons in Parameter and Merrimon be withdrawn from the content of the commons in Parameter and Merrimon be withdrawn from the content of the common in Parameter and Merrimon be withdrawn from the content of the common in Parameter and Merrimon be withdrawn from the content of the con for the Commons in Buncombe, pledge Senatorial race. The Profession of Teaching-Increased interest in the Kindergarten--- What is the Object of Kindergarten Instruetion ?--- How it is Taught .--Socialistic Gathering of Normalites and Villagers --- Sweet Music-The News.

CHAPEL HILL, June 21. FOURTH DAY. After engaging in religions exercises the classes adjourned for regular duties, and the Normal School is now in full

by Prof. Ladd, at 12 o'clock, was on "Profession of Teaching."
I regard you, teachers, as a body of professional teachers. By coming to the Normal School you have joined that profession. I regret to say that the profession of teaching is not fully established. Lawyers, divines, doctors, &c., have to go through a regular course of academic, cellegiate, and special training, before they can practice their profession. And why not teachers? 'Profession of Teaching.' profession. And why not teachers!
What entitles you to be teachers!
Have you pursued those studied which still lead to the development of man's moral and mental nature, and fit him for greater usefulness. If so, you are justly a teacher, and the noblest of all professional men. This is a training chool for teachers, Here Prof. Lade spoke in high terms of praise for our legislators, that they had established this school. If offers advantages which no State in the Union offers. Praised the learning of Prof. Geo. T. Winston. How many love the teacher's life? How many will teach for $8.75 a month and for $9. The faithful and constast teacher will reap a final and rich re-

Teaching has been made a stair case to some other calling. He lost a teacher the other day. One of his best. She loved her profession, but she loved her Joseph more. Hence her resignation Poeta nascitur non fit is known to you all. I say magister noscitur non fit.

If you want to belong to the half-fed, partially clothed, ill treated profession if you want your case discussed by the Sewing Society; and have mothers think they know more than you, then be a teacher. Stick to it, and success will come. If not in money in a bountiful gift of God's love and grace.

KINDERGARTEN. A large crowd assembled at 3 o'clock in the chapel to find it handsomely decorated with a bright carpet, and the singing "Sweet Bye and Bye," Miss Coe began the work with a comprehensive review of the preceding leaves the street of th sive review of the preceding lecture.

the character of little children for good and usefulness.

The children then sung songs and enjoyed the various calisthenic exercises. Our next letter will be devoted to this subject entirely.

To-night the long-looked for social gathering was held. President Battle requested Messrs. James Phillps, F. D. Winston, Robert P. Pell, Isaac M. Taylor, Isaac E. Emerson and Eugene L. Harris, to act as marshals. At 8 o'clock an assemblage of grace and beanty and an assemblage of grace and beauty and chivalry enlivened the ball room. No dancing, no german, nothing but a continuous flow of the liveliest concontinuous flow of the liveliest conversation, a cold water reception where every one was allowed to meet every one and enjoy themselves. Here I might as well state, for it must come first or last, and let's have it and be over with it, that there are some of the most beautiful ladies attending the school, of our whole State. The gentlemen are sorter tough looking.

TRINITY NORMAL SCHOOLS

Opening and Organization--Attendance. Peported specially for the News. TRINITY COLLEGE, N. C., June 22d, 1878.

Our Normal opened on the 20th, with about 60 in attendance. There were ten counties represented, and four States. More are expected and are arriving on every train. The Normal was opened by reading part of the scriptures and prayer by B. Craven LL. D, after which Dr. Craven delivered a lecture on "Successful Labor," which was, as usual, full of thought and

THE PRINCIPAL TEACHERS. The principal teachers of the Normal are Dr. B. Craven, Prof. O. W. Kerr, Prof. W. T. Gannaway, Prof. L. John-son, Prof. W. H. Pegram, and N. C. English.

To-day the Normal school met in the college chapel with about 25 new attendants. It was opened by reading scripture, and prayer by Samuel McPherson, of Bush Hill. After this a spelling

THE PROGRAMME.

The programme for Monday was then next disquised, and a few remarks in regard to the managements of public schools were then offered. The school was then dismissed for dinner. The evening session met at 2 o'clock p. m. Dr. B. Craven then gave some exercises in mental arithmetic, and orthography. After these exercises were closed; the nials portion of the Normal actuel remained to form a debating assisty for the benefit of those who may attend the Normal at this place.

The house was then called to order by Prof. L. Johnson, when the society proceeded to elect a president, vice-president and accretary, which resulted in the choice of the following: Prof. L. Johnson, President; Prof. O. W. Carr, Vice-President; N. C. English, Secretary.

This society will meet on Tuesday and Friday nights during the Normal, to debate any subject which they see J. W. W.

DR. J. W. JONES, of Tarboro, was in the city yesterday. He is spending some weeks, for the benefit of his family, at his country place in Franklin county, near Pacific. He is one of the most prominent physicians of the State, a leading citizen of Edgecombe, and one of the cleverest gentlemen in the world.

HON. THOS. L. CLINGMAN left the city yesterday for Chapel Hill, where he will on Wednesday deliver a lecture to the Normal School. General Clingman was for fourteen years before the war a leading member of the House, and Senator in Congress from North Carolina, and for intellectual acquirements, has no superior in the State or at the South. and it is safe to say that the address which he will deliver on this occasion will not be surpassed by any effort before the Normal classes at this session of the school.

DR. R. FURMAN, of South Carolina. one of the most eminent and eloquent divines of the Baptist church, last evening delivered the address before the young ladies of the Raleigh Female Seminary. Professor Hobgood extends a cordial invitation to the public, to attend the exercises of the week, which promise to be both instructive and entertaining. The three female educational institutions of Raleigh are a credit to the city, and should have the countenance, encouragement and support of every citizen.

HON. WILLIAM H. BATTLE, formerly of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, for some past years a resident of Raleigh, but now living at Chapel Hill. was in the city yesterday, returning from a visit to his son Dr. Battle, at Wadesboro. Judge Battle was for fourteen years on the Superior Court Bench and for sixteen years a Judge of the Supreme Court of the State, and is a link binding the present to past better days of the republic. One of the most honored and distinguished sons of the State, the public will learn with pleasure that he is in the enjoyment of excellent health, giving promise of yet many days of usefulness in the instruction of young ture. It might have the effect to relieve men in the science of the law at Chapel the campaign of the Senatorial contest Hill, where he has a law school. Bank Examinations.

A correspondence has lately passed between Attorney General Kenan and Secretary of State Engelhard concerning the duty of the latter in regard to the examination of banks.

Major Engelhard has been of the opinion that he had no power either to make examinations of banks himself, or to appoint any one to do so for him. The Press of the State has been of a different opinion, and leading citizens of the State have supposed this to be an imperative and responsible duty of the Secretary of State.

That officer has written to Colonel Kenan calling his attention to the different acts upon the subject, asking his opinion, and desiring, if he had the power, to appoint some one of experience and integrity to make a thorough examination of the condition of all the banks doing business in the State.

The Attorney General replies, sustaining the opinion and action of the Secretary of State in the premises, holding that no power was given that officer by the Legislature of 1874-75, or by the amended act of 1876-77, to make such examinations.

Those who have supposed this to be the duty of the Secretary of State will, therefore, understand why he does not undertake the examination and publish the reports of the condition of the banks, as was done by Dr. W. H. Howerton, the late incumbent.

A Ridiculous Proposition. Hon. Thomas L. Clingman, in his interviews with the press, his speech at the complimentary serenade to Senator Merrimon, and in general conversations, takes the position that members elect to the Legislature should come as free and impartial, as to the United States Senatorship and other grave public questions, as a jury in a capital

In cases where jurors are required who have formed and expressed no opinion, it is the custom to select them in the counties from those sections in which the matter to be tried has been the least discussed, and, if possible, where it has not been discussed at all, Now, if the Senators and Representatives in the Legislature of North Carolina are to come to Raleigh with minds, respecting the Senatorship, as blank as sheets of paper, what section of the State are they to come from? Where, in any county of North Carolina, can men be found for the Legislature who have not themselves discussed, read of, or listened to discussion as to the relative merits of certain gentlemen for the United States Senate?

This difficulty presenting itself, if the plan of ex-Senator Clingman must be adopted and carried out, it will be found necessary to go out of the State to select a Legislature. How absurd the proposition? That men are to be sent to Raleigh, to constitute a General Assembly of the intelligence, worth and public sentiment of the State; delegated to represent the people from whom they come, on all questions of public concern, yet are disqualified as representatives of the people, if they have ever heard an expression, or expressed themselves on any of those questions which shall come up for their consideration and decision in accordance with the wishes of their respective constituencies, marks a new era in the politics of North Caro- To Take Effect Sunday, June

Dr. Grissom, in his great speech on "True and False Experts," delivered before the association of American Superintendents of Insane Asylums, says : -"No living man can entirely project imself into the consciousness of another." Yet, against this high authority, sustained, as it is, by the reason and common sense of every human being, not a lunatic or an idiot, General Clingman maintains that the requisite qualification for a member of the Legislature is that he shall be able to "project himself into the consciousness of another;" that he shall alone ascertain the wishes of his constituents by this process of "projection;" and he shall do it too on the very spur of the moment, at the instant when the matter comes up for consideration in the Legislature. For, if the Legislator shall have ever given the matter a moment of thought, or heard it incidentally mentioned before he left home, have ever casually alluded to it on the stump, or anywhere during the campaign, from the date of the primary meetings which chose the delegates to the county convention which nominated him, he is disqualified for a seat on-the jury of the Legislature.

The people have heard of the jury of the public, to which politicians some times refer, and public men appeal, but the News ventures to say that "the Jury of the Legislature" will strike them as something new, novel, and altogether original. But General Clingman does not liken his jury of the Legislature to the jury of the public. He says it is like a jury of the courts of law and justice. That the qualifications for members are precisely the same; that neither shall have formed and expressed an opinion. Now what there is in common between a jury drafted by the Sheriff of a county to set on and try a case in court, and a Legislature elected by the people to make laws for the government of juries and courts, a plain practical mind cannot understand, however apparent may be the analogy to a metaphysical mind like that of the scientific, philosophic and diplomatic statesman, ex-Senator Clingman. And if not too much otherwise engaged, it would not be a bad idea for General Clingman to make a canvass of the State this summer, and explain to the people this new thing in politics, the jury of the Legisla-

If the people are ignorant, which was entirely within their province to confer, consult with, express their preference to, make known to them their wishes, and, if they saw fit, to instruct their members of the Legisture on all matters of importance to come before the General Assembly, General Clingman would be doing a high public service, and the people will most assuredly thank him to inform them of their fatal error and dangerous infatuation. It might not be a bad thing for the deneral to give the Normal School at Chapel Hill the benefit of his "Jury of the Legislature." The students come from all portions of the State, and could take home with them some new and valuable information for their people, ever eager to learn, and always willing to profit by instruction.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on a brings our friends up from the underworld, sad as the last which reddens over one that sinks with all we love below the verge: so sad, so fresh, the days that are no more. sad and strange as in dark summer dawns the carliest pipe of half swaken'd blids for dying ears, when unto dying eyes the casement slowly grows a glimmering square, so sad, so strange, the days that are no more.

A few months, or even weeks, since, her palid countenance was the very type of ruddy health—the delight of the school and the pride of the household. was always welcome wherever daty or pleasure led her. Dilligent, punctual, exemplary, in the class-room, obedient and loving at home, she won the hearts of all. But alas! those glowing cheeks and lips are now blanched by consumption. The voice once so enchanting in laugh and song is feeble. husky and broken by a hollow cough. Let us approach her couch and gently take her bloodless hand in our own. Do not shudder because of its feeble passionless grasp. The band once so warm and plump shows its bony outlines, while the chords and tortuous veins are plainly mapped upon its surface. The pulse that bounded with repletion, imparting beauty, vivacity, health and strength, to the system, is delicate to the touch. The enervated heart feebly propels the thin, scanty blood. Must we lose her while yet so young and fair? No. There is relief. But something is required more than the observance of hygienic rules, for enfeebled nature calls for aid and she must have it. Administer this pleasant medicine. It is invigorating. It allays the irriatible cough, improves the appetite and digestion, and sends a healthy tingle through her whole being. The blood is enriched, nervous power increased, and the heart bounds with a new impulse. Her face brightens-the blood is returning, her voice is clearer and her requests are no longer delivered in that peevish, fretful tone so deadening to sympathy. Her step is still fal-tering, but strength is rapidly returning. Let us take her out in the warm, lifegiving sunshine. In a few weeks she will go without our aid and be able to join her companions in their pleasant pastimes and feel her whole being warmed and expanded into perfect The change is so great that we think she is sweeter and nobler than before. And the medicine which has wrought this transformation. we look upon as a blessing to humanity, for there are other loved ones to be rescued from the grasp of the insiduous destroyer. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical iscovery has raised her. It will raise others.

EXHIBIT OF DRAWINGS AND PAINTINGS.

There will be an exhibit to-day, of the drawings and paintings by the young ladies of the school in the chapel of the seminary, from 11 o'clock a. m. to 61 o'clock p. m. The public are cordially invited to call and inspect them by daylight. Through the kindness of Prof. Hobgood and the courtesy of Miss Swain, the experienced and efficient teacher in that branch, we were, on yesterday, shown through the beautiadvent, has introduced a new method of teaching, which is, copying from plaster cast models, and with the most excellent results. We were shown the first sketches of some of the pupils, then their next effort, and so on, and we were particularly struck with the morning, at 10 o'clock. ing attempt. The following is a list of some of the pictures that deserve special

Miss Lilly Durham has sketched three pieces, "Copy from Raphael's Cherubs," "Mans Unselfish Friend," and "Delaware water Gap." Miss Gunter has drawn "West Point landing on the Hudson," "Venus of the Bath, " " A Temperance meeting, (represented by three horses drinking at a fountain), "Calla Lilly," from plaster cast, which is particularly good. Miss Eva Davis has a globe sketched from cast and enlarged one diameter

She also has sketched a "Stag," (which deserves much praise), "Summer,' "Seven mountains on the Rhine," and two small models, a cylinder, and a pyramid. Miss Annie Hunter is represented in five pieces, a copy from Landseer, "Shepherd dog finding sheep in the Snow," "Stag," a moonlight scene, "Stillness of night," (an ideal piece), a castle scene, and a group of models.

Miss Mollie S Hall in five pieces, "A Cascade," an ideal piece, "Cuildhood," and two landscapes. Miss Gill, in three pieces, which, for a beginner, are very well drawn. "A Castle," "English homestead," and 'Rustic Scene.' Miss Eugenia Robinson, two pieces, "Dartmouth Castle," and "A Land-scape of Southern Portugal."

Miss Lilly Staton has the greatest number of drawings in the collection, and is represented in seven pieces. A scene near Morganton, North Carolina, "Keeping the peace." "The monks oak" (a copy from Constanae Schmidt) and several models.

A landscape on the Moselle, by Miss Reila Harris, is nicely drawn, and shows the delicacy of that young lady's Miss Foy Johnson has sketched Dartmouth Castle, her first piece, she displays talent and will make an artiste of merit if she continues the study.

Miss Ettie H. Briggs of Raleigh, is represented by an ideal sketch, "Mother and Child" and one of the best groups of models in the collection, a ball, cone, hexagon cube and octagonal cone on a marble table. Miss Sallie Williams by 4 pictures, "Head of an English Hunter," "Hills of New England," "Bohemian Wald" and a pyramid from a plaster cast.

Miss Kate Stallings, three crayon sketches, a small landscape mountains in the distance, "Burnham Abbey" and a scene on Lake Superior near Macinac. Miss Lizzie Dunn, by two drawings, a group of rocks and "Chick, Chick!" the latter a pleasant little scene, a child is feeding young chickens in a barn-yard, this sketch will amuse the younger visitors immensely.

Mrs. Ben Hobgood has two scenes which are undoubtedly, the gems of the collection, the first "Go Away Greedy" hangs on the right wall of the chapel, as you enter, the latter "A scene from real life" hangs just opposite and represents an old ady, who by the way is a resident of Brooklyn N. Y., she dent is in the act of passing a saucer of coffee to her mouth, when one of her numerous pets, a cat, jumps on her shoulders; she turns and looks at the cat with a most quisical expression on Miss Mary Hines is represented by the oil paintings, -- A Moss Rose, Red Rose, A Pleasure Party in a Cave, by Moonlight, Winter in the Country, and 'Shipwrecked Sailor;' this latter piece s not as good as it might be: it is a difficult study, and would require almost a master's touch to do it justice. Miss Eva B. Davis' fruit piece and German landscape does the young lady much credit. We advise the public to take advantage of the opportunity offered to-day, and examine this excellent collection. THE CONCERT THIS EVENING. Mary Walker, Annie Nichols, PART FIRST.—Chorus—Now waits Bally Bailey, Eugenia Robinson, Sally Griffiis, Helen Grausmann, Elma Gwalt-Peri Waltzes, D'Albert, Misses Ray and Gunter.

The Races at the Fair Grounds As was announced in the News of Sunday, the trials of speed took place yesterday afternoon at the fair grounds. The affair was quite a suc-cess, some three or four hundred persons being present, and everything passed off very pleasantly. All the races were "scrub," there being no track horses present. The following are the races: The first was between Joe Kelly, owned by W. C, MacMackin, and Electra, own ed by Dr. Jas. McKee

Electra won.

The second was between Jennie Morgan, owned by W. H. Lyon, and Electra; Jennie won two straight heats. Time 2:57.

The third was between Frank Stronach's mare, Madge Wildfire, and Dr. W. W. Jones' horse; Madge won. The fourth, a quarter of a mile dash running race, was between Captain White's gray Gelding, Johnny Creech's pony "Bob," and Edgar Haywood's pony "Nubbin;" Nubbin won.

At the conclusion of the races, there was a chicken fight. Another meeting will be held in a short time.
